

insurance agent or broker for assistance, and connect with their state department of insurance if they have questions.

The current COVID-19 crisis has highlighted that many existing business interruption (BI) policies have specific exclusions for viruses or other diseases, and coverage is generally only triggered by actual physical damage. Therefore, these policies were generally not designed or priced to provide coverage for claims arising from COVID-19. This is not surprising as i

D 117

D - David Heston

117

Mr. L. H. Jones

Michael Heston